Aims

To demystify AI governance, show why it matters throughout the AI lifecycle, and empower attendees to ask practical questions, identify key risks and contribute confidently to responsible AI decisions in their organisations.

Skills

- AI governance literacy and shared vocabulary
- AI risk identification and proportionate assessment
- Critical questioning of AI use cases, data and controls
- Stakeholder mapping, accountability and escalation
- Applying human oversight, transparency and monitoring principles
- Communicating governance requirements clearly across technical and non-technical teams
- Confidence to influence responsible AI decisions

Outcomes

AI does not begin with an algorithm; it begins with data. What we collect, where it comes from, how it is prepared and whether it still works as expected all shape the decisions an AI system makes. In this session, we will follow data through the AI lifecycle—from the first idea and design choices to testing, launch and ongoing monitoring. We will look at the points where things can go wrong, the questions worth asking and the simple checks that help keep AI useful, fair and under control. You will leave with a practical way to think about data in AI and more confidence to challenge what is being used, why it is being used and how it is managed over time.
