Event Title	Neurodiversity In the Workplace	Event short ID:	Neurodiversity Work
Date of Event	08/04/2026	Expiry date:	No expiry

Learning Aims

This session is suitable to all interested and willing to learn. From a panel of neurodivergent Boots employees, it will discuss the often-hidden challenges they face, the benefits that they find from being neurodivergent and what kind of things aid maximum success in the workplace. It will be a frank discussion on the difficulties faced by our speakers, a discussion of what they have personally found to help within their teams and will hopefully help to empower you to ask for support that you may find beneficial to reach your potential, as well as what you can do to support your colleagues.

Key skills

Empathy
Resilience

Outcomes

Having completed this session, you should have a wider understanding of how neurodiversity and learning difficulties can impact colleagues in your workplace. You will be equipped with the knowledge of how to ask for help if you need it, or how you can be more considerate of others around you. After the prerecording there will be an opportunity for questions and to ask our speakers for advice.
