Event Title	AI Talent Market Assessment	Event short ID:	AI Talent Insights
Date of Event	10/03/2026	Expiry date:	No expiry
Learning Aims	The objective of this session is to help attendees understand the changing talent market for data and AI skills to build the right skills for themselves and their organizations.
Key skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Enriched market context and analysis• Technical skills self-assessment• Upskilling and workforce planning
Outcomes	AI uncertainty is paralysing the talent market. As POCs continue to stall and organizations struggle to get their data foundations right, decision makers, employees and candidates are asking "what skills do I need?". In this webinar, Kubrick shares new market research into the state of this constrictive labour market and the downstream consequences for AI adoption. Attendees will get a look into the inner workings of the job market to understand which skills and levels are most in demand and which are missing to scale AI into production.
